I support the ARRL proposal except that code should not be required for any class license. Many advanced license holders I have met state that they only learned code to pass the test and have now forgotten most of it.